

Privacy Policy

Last Updated: January 2026

This Privacy Policy explains how information is collected, used, and protected when you visit this website.

1. Information We Collect

We may collect the following categories of information:

- Information you voluntarily provide, such as your name, email address, phone number, and information submitted through contact or intake forms.
- Automatically collected information, including IP address, device identifiers, browser type, pages visited, and usage data.

2. How We Use Information

- Information collected through this website is used to:
 - Respond to inquiries and communications
 - Evaluate potential legal matters
 - Operate, maintain, and improve the website
 - Monitor website traffic and usage patterns
- We do not sell personal information.

3. Intake Forms and Confidentiality

Submission of information through this website or through an intake form does not create an attorney-client relationship. Do not submit confidential or time-sensitive information unless and until an attorney-client relationship has been formally established through a written agreement.

4. Cookies and Analytics

This website uses Google Analytics 4 (GA4) to collect information about how visitors use the site. Google Analytics may collect information such as IP address, device identifiers, browser type, pages visited, and interaction data through cookies or similar technologies. This information is used solely to understand website usage and improve site functionality. You may control cookies through your browser settings.

5. Information Sharing

Information may be shared with service providers that assist in operating this website, such as website hosting, analytics, or practice management tools. Information is not shared except as necessary to operate the website or comply with legal obligations.

6. Data Security

Reasonable administrative and technical measures are used to protect information submitted through this website. However, no method of transmission over the internet is completely secure.

7. California Privacy Rights (CPRA)

Under the California Consumer Privacy Act, as amended by the California Privacy Rights Act (“CPRA”), California residents have the right to request information about the categories of personal information collected, request deletion or correction of personal information, and limit the use or disclosure of sensitive personal information, where applicable.

We do not sell or share personal information for cross-context behavioral advertising. Privacy requests may be submitted using the contact information below and are subject to identity verification and applicable legal, ethical, and professional-responsibility obligations, including attorney record-retention requirements.

8. Contact Information

If you have questions about this Privacy Policy or wish to submit a privacy request, please contact: info@hparklaw.com